

Volunteer help during the needlecraft judging included Charlene Swavely and her granddaughter, Samantha Swavely.

Mae Frey, Josephine Babb, Diane Readinger and Naomi Mest help to tabulate the scores provided by the judges in the canned goods department.

Randy Howerter came all the way from Austin, Texas to compete in the adult pedal tractor contest.

The Fair at Oley

Mallory Ketterer fights to keep control of her lamb during the judging.

Needlecraft judging being done by Carolyn Tibbets, Naomi Kegerise and Tracey Robb.

Five month old Allison Marie Hoch had her first Oley Fair photo taken on a John Deere mini-Gator.

John Glen Snyder and Adam McIlvee, both of Oley, check the Kubota equipment

Pennsylvania Fair Queen Julie Sollenberger took part in her first bale throwing contest.

Berks-Mont photos
by Harold Hoch

Ross Campbell of Zepher Hills Farms in Seisholtzville demonstrates a portable sawmill.

Houseman's Country Store and Auction won the commercial display award.